(c) What had happened to the 'poor girl'?

The youngest sister was captured by a demon, who put her in a sack and carried her away. She escaped from the sack and got back home when the demon left the sack unattended to go and speak to the other demon.

(d) Give the antonym of the word 'escaped'.

captured

II. Short Answers:

1. What did the mother ask her daughters to do every night?

The mother asked her daughters to ensure that all the seven doors of the mansion were properly locked every night.

2. Who used to trouble the villagers?

Two ferocious demons used to trouble the villagers by attacking them in their homes. Hence, people would keep their doors and windows locked, especially at night.

3. Why did the youngest daughter forget to lock the last door?

The youngest daughter was very tired as she had been working outdoors the whole day. After dinner, she started locking the doors one by one. By the time the sixth one was locked, she was so tired that she forgot about the seventh door and went to sleep.

4. What happened as a result?

The demon found one door of the mansion open and he barged in. He caught the youngest daughter, put her into a large sack and took her away.

5. How did the youngest daughter escape from the demon?

While returning to his cave, the demon met the other demon. He did not want the other demon to know about the girl in the sack. Hence, he left the sack behind and went to meet his friend. The clever girl, meanwhile, escaped from the sack and filled it with rocks.

6. What happened to the two demons in the end?

When the demon found out that the girl had escaped, he rushed back to her house. In the meantime, when the youngest daughter reached home, she made a plan with her sisters and mother to get rid of the demon. When the demon arrived, he heard the two sisters wailing and lamenting the fate of their younger sister who escaped one demon only to be caught by another demon. Hearing this, the demon got very angry at the other demon for stealing the girl from him. He rushed to the other demon's cave and attacked him. They had a terrible fight and ended up killing each other.

III. Long Answers:

1. Do you think that the youngest daughter was brave? Why do you think so?

Answers may vary. Accept all relevant answers. Sample answer: Yes, the youngest daughter was brave because, even after being captured by the demon, she did not give up hope and found a way out of the problem she was in. Her plan of getting rid of the demons is yet another example of bravery as she risked her life and took a chance by misleading the demon.

2. What would you have done if you had been in the daughter's place?

Answers may vary. Accept all relevant answers.
