II. Short Answers:

1. Why does the poet call himself a king?

Since the poet is sitting on the swing—which he refers to as his throne—and is going up on it, he feels like he is a king, who is on top of the world.

2. Why does the poet feel like a bird?

The poet feels like a bird because with the help of the swing, he is able to go up and down freely, just like a bird.

3. What is meant by 'sweeping daisies with my toe'?

'Sweeping daisies with my toe' means that the swing was now slow enough for him to touch the daisies with his toe.
